

Jon Ian Sayles grew up with artists in the family and decided to upgrade his own art to film. At the age of 16 Sayles was watching Motown 40 (the 40th anniversary of Motown records) and from then on Sayles wanted have a business for himself.

His film production company Edwin Entertainment is named from his uncle Edwin Lee Widemen- who was a hairdresser and highly influential figure for the young Sayles. Widemen died in 1991 when his young nephew Jon Sayles was 8 years old.

Sayles' first movie- "FOLLOW YOUR HEART", was a mild success and is subject to reboot. The film followed the success of his stageplay "LIFE & TIMES OF OL' ALFRED", previously produced by Shadow Theatre Company in 2010.

Jon Sayles has been doing plays and movies all his life, and is looking forward to making more.
